

Ohio State graduate students in military history participate in the conference, "Military Frontiers: A Graduate Symposium Beyond Battle," at the Mershon Center on May 10, 2013.

This conference highlighted graduate student research on military history topics beyond the battlefield. Presentations included research on logistics, civil defense, propaganda, diplomacy and the institutions that manage violent conflict.

Robert McMahon, Ralph D. Mershon Professor of History, served as chair and commentator for the conference's session on "America Overseas."